How to Use

Ask any question related to relationship matters. Place your finger or pencil randomly on any letter on the stone. Write that letter down. Then count 4 letters after that and write down. Continue until you have 16 letters. The first letter that you get on the first line on the top of the stone is the beginning of your answer. Practice until the answers make sense.

This booklet is dedicated to families and friends who want to share a bit of their private life together. As a game, it can turn problems into fantasies and realities into fancies. Please make sure that the people you invite know about the nature of these relationship stones. Try them alone first with your own questions and doubts.

You can find in these Stones the spirit of ancient civilizations. This is how they would have spent time when the calm would have returned to the valleys.

Don't let the stones disturb you. Use them and abuse them as you wish. They will respect you for that special treatment.

If you want your own stones, on any subject, let the author know the wording in general and he will work out the mathematics and formula. The stones will be emailed to you.
